

Oxford Discover Level 5, Module 1, Big Question

Mountain gorillas are endangered animals. They live in the mountains in Africa.

Mountain gorillas are large animals. They have black hair and long arms. They are endangered because people hunt them and destroy their habitats.